

FORECASTING OF OBTAINING PROGNOSIS OF CONTROL OF BRONCHIAL ASTHMA IN CHILDREN

V. O. Bodnarchuk, L. V. Besh

Summary

The possibilities of bronchial asthma in children including the manner of individual prognosing the disease course by applying the method of logistic regression are represented in the article. The regression equation has shown to be able to calculate the probability of obtaining control of bronchial asthma in children depending on various combination of factors. The results of its introducing into practice of the work in the Lviv city children allergological centre.
