

PROGRAMED REHABILITATION ABDOMINAL PERITONITIS

A. M. Khadjibaev, H. H. Asomov,

U. R. Riskiev, N. N. Muhamedzhanova, D. O. Sigalov

Summary. The results of treatment of 43 patients with diffuse peritonitis and various origins presented. It is proved that the programmed sanitation by Decasan considering adequately performed surgery is an effective method of intensive therapy in the treatment of diffuse postoperative peritonitis, helping to diagnose and correct postoperative complications.

Keywords: postoperative peritonitis, programmable sanitation decamethoxin, Decasan, fibrolaparoscopy.