

THE CORRECTION OF ARTERIAL HYPOTENSION IN NEUROAXIAL ANESTHESIA

Kim En Din, O. A. Sobirov

Summary. In the study participated 160 women aged 21 to 76 years, which as anesthesia care during gynecological operations used spinal anesthesia 0,5 % hyperbaric bupivacaine solution (0,2 mg / kg). The study found that correcting hypotension patients with initial hypertensive-hypodynamic dissociation intravenous infusion of dopamine at a dose of 5,7 mg/kg/min, and if the initial hypotensive-hyperdynamic dissociation — mezatoni a dose of 0,2–0,3 mg/kg/min.

Keywords: neuroaxial anesthesia, hypotension, treatment.