

EFFECTIVENESS OF ACTIVE AND PASSIVE DETECTION OF TUBERCULOSIS CASES AMONG INDIVIDUALS WITH INCREASED RISK OF TUBECULOSIS OCCURRENCE

Yu. I. Feshchenko, V. M. Melnik,
V. G. Matusevych, V. O. Yukhimets,
N. O. Lapteva

Summary

The results of the study of effectiveness of active and passive detection of tuberculosis and the level of tuberculosis morbidity in high risk subjects have been presented in the article. The evaluation of fluorography and sputum smear microscopy methods in subject of high risk of tuberculosis occurrence has been conducted.