

MEDICAL AND ECONOMICAL ASPECTS OF EFFECTIVENESS OF ASTHMA THERAPY

G. P. Pobedyonnaja

Summary

The data about clinical effectiveness of ω -3 polyunsaturated acids and thioctic acid, administered additionally to basis therapy in patients with moderate and severe asthma are presented in this article. There was calculated the direct and indirect spending on treatment of patients with asthma in Lugansk region. The economical losses, caused by asthma per one patient in the region, were demonstrated. The comparative analysis of clinical and economical effectiveness of basis therapy, basis therapy with ω -3 polyunsaturated acids and basis therapy with thioctic acid was conducted.