

MACROLIDES: PHARMACOEPIDEMOLOGICAL ASPECTS

Yu. M. Mostovoy, A. V. Demchuk,
T. V. Konstantynovych, A. A. Sidorov

Summary

The results of pharmacoepidemiological analysis of the consumption of antibacterial medications by the patients in city of Vinnitsa during 2005-2007 demonstrated that new macrolides had been used insufficiently. This is an evidence of low level of information awareness of population and doctors about new drugs. This situation requires more intensive education and advertising regarding new effective medications among general practitioners.